

Scientific-Study-Based Photobiomodulation

Do You Or Your Patients Want Help With Any of The Following?

Weight Loss Neuropathy Arthritis Cellulite Skin Tightening Elite Athletic Performance Recovery Pain Inflammation Nerve Regeneration Brain Injury Wound Healing Diabetes Scars Stretch Marks Skin Tightening Skin Blemishes Hair Growth Thyroid Psoriasis Acne Wrinkles, And More.

Scientific studies have proven that all of these conditions can be helped with one thing, and that is

Photobiomodulation Therapy (PBM)

What is Photobiomodulation?

Photobiomodulation therapy is a form of light therapy that utilizes non-ionizing light sources, including lasers, light emitting diodes and/or broadband light, in the visible and near-infrared electromagnetic spectrum. And when you combine light therapy with other therapies like chiropractic, various therapeutic devices, lifestyle changes, diet, exercise, and detox programs, et al, the results can be almost close to miraculous. Literally.

How does light therapy do all of this?

Light therapy is a photochemical effect, just as sunshine causes melatonin to be released. Other colors, frequencies and powers cause different photochemical responses in the body. You can use different color lights and different powers, at different times, and help all of the above-listed conditions heal and/or improve – based on scientific studies and real world results.

We all want to help our patients heal, and Chiropractic is a great core system.

I have been going to a chiropractor at least once a month for almost my entire life, i.e. since I was 4-years-old. I recall that it was around age 12 or so that I realized that not everyone went to a chiropractor all of the time, and I could not understand that; I knew that the nerves controlled everything and that doctors of chiropractic made sure that the nerves were functioning as best they could. But, yet, not everyone knew that.

And even today, some 30 years later, less than 6% of the entire population has ever gone to a chiropractor!

My chiropractic practice was a wellness-based one where my “average patients” were with me for many years, and it was not because they were not getting better but rather because they were staying well.

So when I got into light therapy 10 years ago I was looking for a modality that fit my wellness model, and PBM fulfilled exactly that because it helped heal my patients – not by covering up or masking symptoms but by stimulating natural healing processes that were already in the body.

And the real challenge then became in getting those remaining 94% of patients in the door... to hear the chiropractic message.

And that's why, where and how PBM Therapy came into play.

The secret to success in any business is selling people what they want, not what they need. People willingly and happily spend their own money on “stuff” they want.

The real challenge here, though, is that they don't “want” chiropractic – but they do need it!

Okay, so what do people really want? The easiest way to know is to see how and where they spend their money. In 2018 people spent the most on housing, but when it came to health expenditures anti-aging was one of the top categories, with weight loss a close second. And you can help heal both of these conditions naturally, without dangerous surgery or drugs. And you can do it by increasing the overall wellness of your patients as the tool to get there.

Therefore, it is not just “aesthetics” but rather it is wellness-based systems that help you achieve great results.

What kind of results does this produce for doctors like you?

Check out the email below; it is just one example of emails that I get every week from many of the over-427 doctors who bought my systems and devices over the past 10 years:

Dr. Jamie,

I was on TV Monday morning and got over 50 website leads and around 30 to 40 phone calls, and I was on TV this morning and we had the same response. We went from 70% insurance and 30% cash last year to 70% cash and 30% insurance this year, and we are on target to collect over 200K more than last year. And almost double of what we did before we got your system. Our 3 Vevazz machines deliver consistent results for our patients and our checking account.

Thanks for your help, buddy,

Dr. Jeremy
